Penina Taylor's extensive experience in Christian and Messianic leadership as well as training in evangelism, outreach, and missions over 17 years has given her a unique perspective on missionary groups that target the Jewish community. As a leader in the Messianic movement, Penina's articles were circulated across the world and she was in demand as a speaker for several organizations and churches. Now, as a Jew who has "come home", Penina shares her story in the hopes of giving strength and encouragement, empowering the Jewish community in its fight against the missionary threat and bringing Jewish Christians back home.
